

Boys Throw Back Hall Fashions

For boys at Throw Back Hall, there are tons of iconic styles to rock that capture the spirit of different eras! Here are some ideas to get you started!

Please note, Camp Mac does not take a position on the quality or content of the movies listed below or their appropriateness or lack thereof for your child. These movies are simply offered for parents to use as a resource for fashion inspiration for each decade to help select costumes for their child for Throw Back Hall.

40s:

- Big Band: You're under the spotlight, dressed in a sharp suit and tie, belting out classic tunes like "Fly Me to the Moon" or "Cheek to Cheek." You can even use a toy microphone and practice your stage presence or choose an instrument from the big band lineup (saxophone, trumpet, trombone, etc.) and pretend to play along with the music. You can wear a bandana and carry a fake instrument case for full effect. Don't see yourself in the band? Put on your dancing shoes and learn some iconic swing moves like the Lindy Hop, the Charleston, or the Jitterbug. You'll be gliding across the dance floor to the lively big band tunes!
- War Hero: Pay homage to the brave soldiers of WWII with a khaki uniform, helmet, and toy gun (pretend use only!). You could even learn some basic drills or Morse code!
- Movie Inspo: Still need ideas? Check out these iconic movies for more inspiration of 1940s culture: Casablanca, It's a Wonderful Life, Pearl Harbor, Broadway Melody of 1940

50s:

- Greaser: Think James Dean with a slicked-back pompadour, a leather jacket, and rolled-up jeans! Don't forget the comb for touch-ups!
- Sock Hop Hero: Channel your inner Elvis or Buddy Holly with a button-down shirt, rolled-up chinos, and some classic Converse sneakers. Don't forget to practice your jitterbug moves!

- Movie Inspo: Still need ideas? Check out these iconic movies for more inspiration of 1950s culture: Rebel Without a Cause, Singin' In the Rain, Grease, West Side Story, Love Me Tender

60s:

- Hippie Dude: Let your hair flow free (or grab a wig!), throw on some tie-dye threads, and rock some peace signs. Bonus points for funky sunglasses and sandals.
- Surfin' Safari: Channel the iconic album cover of the Beach Boys with board shorts, a Hawaiian shirt open over a plain white T-shirt, flip-flops, and a lei around your neck. Add a blond wig for extra authenticity!
- Groovy Mod: Think bold patterns, geometric shapes, and turtlenecks. Pair some slim-fit pants with a colorful patterned shirt and go-go boots for a truly groovy look.
- Movie Inspo: Still need ideas? Check out these iconic movies for more inspiration of 1960s culture: Austin Powers, Endless Summer, Space Odyssey, Pulp Fiction, Hairspray

70s:

- Disco King: Get ready to boogie in platform shoes, bell-bottoms, and a flashy shirt. Don't forget the afro wig (optional, but definitely adds to the fun!).
- Rockstar: Let your inner rockstar shine with ripped jeans, a band t-shirt (Led Zeppelin, Pink Floyd, etc.), a bandana, and maybe even a denim jacket adorned with patches. Don't forget the Converse sneakers!
- Movie Inspo: Still need ideas? Check out these iconic movies for more inspiration of 1970s culture: Saturday Night Fever, Forrest Gump, Dazed & Confused, American Graffiti

80s:

- Neon Ninja: Embrace the vibrant colors of the 80s with neon everything! Think leg warmers, neon tracksuits, and maybe even a fanny pack! Mullet wig, anyone?
- Hair Metal Rocker: Go big or go home with teased hair, ripped jeans, a band t-shirt (think Bon Jovi or Motley Crue), and maybe even some fingerless gloves!

- Movie Inspo: Still need ideas? Check out these iconic movies for more inspiration of 1980s culture: Footloose, Dirty Dancing, Flash Dance, Fame, Back to the Future, Stayin' Alive, Richard Simmons Sweatin' to the Oldies!

90s:

- Grunge God: Channel your inner Kurt Cobain with ripped jeans, a flannel shirt, combat boots, and maybe even a beanie. Don't forget the angsty expression!
- Boy Band Heartthrob: Think frosted tips, cargo pants, a colorful bowling shirt unbuttoned just enough, and some serious dance moves inspired by Backstreet Boys or *NSYNC!
- Movie Inspo: Still need ideas? Check out these iconic movies for more inspiration of 1990s culture: Clueless, Spice World, Empire Records, Wayne's World, *NSYNC: Bigger Than Live

00s:

- Hip-Hop Hype Man: Grab some baggy jeans, a graphic tee, a backwards baseball cap, and some fresh sneakers. Practice your air guitar skills and bust out some dance moves inspired by icons like Jay-Z or Eminem!
- Surfer Dude: Channel the California cool with loose-fit board shorts, a Hawaiian shirt, flip-flops, and maybe even some spiky hair gel. Don't forget to hang ten (air guitar style)!
- Tech Nerd: Embrace the digital age with a graphic t-shirt featuring your favorite video game or cartoon, cargo pants, chunky sneakers, and maybe even some neon-colored tech accessories (think fake Tamagotchi or a toy cell phone)!
- Movie Inspo: Still need ideas? Check out these iconic movies for more inspiration of 2000s culture: Mean Girls, Bring It On, Step Up, 10 Things I Hate About You, Crossroads, the Simple Life

Remember, these are just a few ideas to get you started! The best outfit is the one that lets you express yourself and have the most fun at Throw Back Hall. So mix and match, get creative, and don't be afraid to rock your own unique style!